Helen Lavretsky, M.D., M.S.

ARTICLE INFO

Article history:

The editor regrets that the printed version of the above editorial commentary in the January, 2023 edition of AJGP, contained several errors. The correct and final version of the editorial commentary appears in this issue. It offers a clear and robust discussion of the interface between geroscience and geriatric mental health and of the importance and innovation of the finding presented in the original research article.
